

April 1999

Greetings Fellow Humanists and Friends!

We'll be getting together for two meetings again this month, keeping the usual pattern of the second Tuesday and the fourth Saturday. Both meetings will be held at the Moonstruck Cafe (upstairs) at the southwest corner of Third Avenue and 31st Street.

Tuesday, April 13th, 6 PM:

A movie will be shown: CUBA CALLS; WE MUST ANSWER, which tells of the devastating effect of the bullying U.S. embargo on our Socialist neighbors. Be sure to bring your own information to share in the discussion to follow. We Humanists really ought to challenge the illogic of U.S. foreign policy, now that Clinton is embracing China. Too bad little Cuba doesn't represent the potential for a zillion consumers!

Saturday, April 24th, 3 PM:

DAVE BUEHRENS, our own literary scholar and researcher on human development, will give a presentation entitled "HUMAN NATURE AND COMPETITIVENESS; A HUMANIST VIEWPOINT." He will, of course, invite your comments and participation.

Your suggestions for programs are invited. Best wishes to all and hope to see you soon.
